

043. Chapter 4 Verses 1-3

Lectures by Swami Sarvapriyananda

VERSE 4.1

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।
इमं विवस्वते योगं प्रोक्तवानहमव्ययम् ।
विवस्वान्मनवे प्राह मनुरिक्ष्वाकवेऽब्रवीत् ॥ १ ॥

śrībhagavānuvāca |
imaṃ vivasvate yogaṃ
proktavānahamavyayam |
vivasvānmanave prāha
manurikṣvākave'bravīt ||

- ◆ śrī-bhagavān uvāca – The Blessed Lord said;
- ◆ imam – this; vivasvate – to Vivasvan (the Sun-god); yogaṃ – Yoga;
- ◆ proktavān – taught; aham – I; avyayam – imperishable;
- ◆ vivasvān – Vivasvan; manave – to Manu; prāha – taught;
- ◆ manuḥ – Manu; ikṣvākave – to Ikshvaku; abravīt – taught.

The Blessed Lord said: This imperishable Yoga of action (and the wisdom arising from it) I taught to Vivasvan (the Sun) at the beginning of creation. Vivasvan taught it to his son Manu, and Manu to his son Ikshvaku.

VERSE 4.2

एवं परम्पराप्राप्तमिमं राजर्षयो विदुः ।
स कालेनेह महता योगो नष्टः परन्तप ॥ २ ॥

evam paramparāprāptam
imam rājarṣayo viduḥ |
sa kāleneha mahatā
yogo naṣṭaḥ parantapa ||

- ◆ evam – thus; paramparā-prāptam – received through tradition/lineage;
- ◆ imam – this; rāja-ṛṣayaḥ – the royal sages; viduḥ – knew;
- ◆ saḥ – that; kālena – by time; iha – here/in this world; mahatā – long;
- ◆ yogaḥ – Yoga; naṣṭaḥ – lost; parantapa – O scorcher of foes.

O Arjuna! The royal sages know this (yoga) which was handed down in regular succession from generation to generation. But by long lapse of time, this Yoga was lost to the world.

VERSE 4.3

स एवायं मया तेऽद्य योगः प्रोक्तः पुरातनः ।
भक्तोऽसि मे सखा चेति रहस्यं ह्येतदुत्तमम् ॥ ३ ॥

sa evāyaṁ mayā te'dya
yogaḥ proktaḥ purātaṇaḥ |
bhakto'si me sakhā ceti
rahasyaṁ hyetaduttamam ||

- ◆ saḥ – that; eva – same; ayam – this; mayā – by Me; te – to you; adya – today;
- ◆ yogaḥ – Yoga; proktaḥ – has been told; purātaṇaḥ – ancient;
- ◆ bhaktaḥ – devotee; asi – you are; me – My; sakhā – friend; ca – and; iti – thus;
- ◆ rahasyam – secret; hi – indeed; etat – this; uttamam – supreme.

This same ancient Yoga has now been taught by Me, for you are My devotee and friend. It is indeed the supreme secret.
